

CARTOONING

NUMBER TOON: 100

www.activitytv.com

DESCRIPTION

Did you know that you can draw the person that's on the $100 bill from the number 100? Well you can and Bruce Blitz will show you how!

MATERIALS

- pad of paper
- marker
- colored chalks or colored pencils

DIRECTIONS

1. Write the number 100, with the numbers a bit spaced out.
2. Under and between the two circles, which will be eyes, draw a longish "U" shaped nose. Divide the circles with slanted lines and draw pupils in the bottom halves. Draw eyebrows going up.
3. Start with the top of number 1 and draw an oval for his face going all the way around, stopping a bit below the 1. Draw long wavy hair on each side, starting where his eyes are. Add detail lines to the hair. Add a "U" shape for his mouth and a lower lip. Draw in a chin line and a few lines under the eyes for character. There is Ben Franklin!
4. For his outfit, draw 2 lines coming down for his collar in a "V" shape. Add some ruffles and 2 sideways "M's" for lapels. Draw lines to indicate his shoulders.
5. Add a pair of bifocals just under his eyes, clipped onto his nose.
6. Add some color. Use light peach for his face, grey for his hair and coat. Draw in a light bulb to the upper left of his head. Add some lines around the outside for brightness and color it yellow.
